BIO

Anuheha Pizana was born and raised in Kailua, Oahu. After graduating from Maryknoll Schools, she attended Kapiolani Community College, and later California State University, Los Angeles. It was there that she met her husband Oscar and graduated with her bachelor's degree in Liberal Studies for Education, in 2010. Shortly after, the couple moved back to Oahu and got married. Anuheha began teaching at Olivet Baptist Preschool in 2011, and taught until 2017, when she and Oscar had their first child, Aria. Anuheha then taught at Central Union Preschool from 2019-2021. She gave birth to twins, Killian and Linnea in 2021. In August 2023, she started teaching with Seagull Schools Aina Haina on the Calvary by the Sea campus. In addition to her nearly ten years of being a lead preschool teacher for ages 2-5, she has led nature-based Tinkergarten classes and written for Hawaii Parent Magazine.

Anuheha has been active in churches since she was a helper in her mother's Sunday School classes as a child at Central Union Church. In high school, Anuheha helped lead the youth worship band at First Presbyterian Church of Honolulu. More recently she has served on the Church Council at Central Union and sang with the worship team at their contemporary service. She feels blessed and excited to serve in this new capacity as Calvary by the Sea's Children's Director. In her free time (not much as a mom of 3), she enjoys writing, singing, reading, and swimming. With her family she enjoys Disney, traveling, and cooking.
